At a meeting of the strikers held at 11 o'clock on Thursday movning they decided that they would remain out until the company gave in to thew.

Morris L. Bergstresser, superinten den of the concern, stated Thursday evening, when asked about the situa-tion, that the strikers came to him early in the week and demanded the raise. Mr. Bergstresser told them he was not able to grant their demands but would take the matter to the headquarters of the company in New York. He further stated that the operatives agreed to wait until his return before doing anything. Mr. Perger turn before doing anything. Mr. Berg-stresser left immediately for New York, where he was in conference with the heads of the concern. When he returned to the city he found that the weavers had gone on a strike without waiting to hear what was done in New York. Mr. Bergstresser says that the fork. Mr. Bergstresser says that the company granted a raise of one to one and a half cents per yard on some of the work, but this was turned down by the strikers. In regard to the average wage paid to the weavers, Mr. Bergstresser states that while some, of course, are not earning $20 a week, the majority of the weavers will pull down as much as $20 to $22, all depending on their skill. He says that it is only the beginners that are earnt is only the beginners that are earn ng as low as $7, and that as the more pay.

The wages in various other departments of the mill have to en voluntarily increased by the company and everyone seems satisfied with the exception of the weavers.
